

MYSTERY SHOPPER

MEASURING THE CUSTOMER EXPERIENCE

When evaluating the customer experience, it's key to measure what matters. Most mystery shopper reports ask the shopper 50-100 questions about their experience; this is too much information and the key feedback often gets lost in the details.

Here's a sample mystery shopper report we've created:

Did our people go out of their way to put a smile on your face?
1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
Not even close								In a big way!
Please tell...
Did our people influence your sale and/or experience?
1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
Not even close								In a big way!
Please tell...
Did our people give you a reason to return?
1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
Not even close								In a big way!
Please tell...

It's only three questions, but those three questions get to the core mission of the business!

List three major promises you want to deliver to your customers.
Try to turn them into mystery shop questions.

Example: I want to deliver an incredible meal to every guest. Question: Did the meal supersede your expectations?

Be sure to track this feedback on the dashboard we showed you earlier, and address any patterns before they become long-term issues.
